Stacy Renee Morrison

In 2002, a small leather trunk containing the preserved keepsakes of a 19th century woman was discarded on a sidewalk in Lower Manhattan. Thus began visual artist Stacy Renee Morrison's self-proclaimed love affair with Sylvia DeWolf Ostrander (1841-1925). For almost two decades, Morrison has been on a quest to weave together Sylvia's life in the 19th century and re-imagine it in the world today through photography, silkscreen and writing.

Series Summary

The Storyteller Series invites visual storytellers from all walks of life, careers and media to share their Visual Narrative.
